

Photo Competition Terms and Conditions

Entry requirements

All entries must be made online via the Carrfields website: www.carrfields.co.nz/calendarcomp

All entrants must be over 18 years of age.

Employees and contractors, and their immediate families, of Carrfields Livestock Ltd (the promoter), its associated companies and advertising agencies are eligible to enter.

Entry into the competition is deemed acceptance of these terms and conditions.

Entries must be the original work of the individual entering the competition. You may not enter the competition on behalf of another person.

Entries cannot be entered into any other competition until the outcome of this competition is known. Winning entries may not be submitted in any other competition.

All entries must be captured within New Zealand.

Entries

Only original entries will be accepted (no photocopies or scans).

All entries must be landscape-oriented, colour images.

All entries must be suitable for high quality print production.

A low quality entry may be submitted online to enable ease of upload; however a high quality version must be available for final judging.

If an entrant cannot supply a high quality file and the original entry is too poor a quality for high-resolution printing, that entry will be deemed ineligible to progress to final judging.

Winner and Finalist Information

The finalists and overall winner will be selected by a selected judging panel of Carrfields Livestock staff members.

The finalists and overall winner will be notified by telephone or email. Inability to contact the finalists or winner within thirty days of selection will result in the prize being forfeited. An alternative finalist and/or winner will be selected to be included in the 2020 Carrfields Livestock calendar.

The winners consent to their name and photo being used for public relations purposes relating to this promotion.

The judging panel's decision is final and no correspondence will be entered into.

Storage and Consent

Carrfields Livestock reserves the right to store electronically any entries submitted by entrants and to use the winning and all other entries free of charge in any of its online and print publications for a period of ten years, noting that once printed images are permanent.

Carrfields Livestock and the photographer will jointly own the copyright of any submitted entries.

Any persons photographed in an entry must have given consent to be photographed and the appropriate written consent documentation completed in full and provided to Carrfields Livestock.

Any persons photographed in an entry who are under the age of 18 must have the appropriate written consent documentation completed in full by their parent/guardian and provided to Carrfields Livestock.

Any property photographed in an entry must have the consent of the property owner and the appropriate written consent documentation completed in full and provided to Carrfields Livestock. Property that is unrecognisable in the entry (e.g. an extreme close up or an aerial view of many properties) does not require consent. Photographs taken of public property do not require consent but an address must be provided. Carrfields Livestock reserves the right to establish whether or not consent is required.

Failure to provide documentation of consent for photographed persons or property will deem the entry ineligible for final judging.

All winning entries will be used in the 2020 Carrfields Livestock calendar, and may be used in other promotional material. The photographer gives their permission for all entries to be used.

All entries submitted will be visible on the website for all entrants to view in a photo gallery which will show a random selection of entries.

Other

Carrfields Livestock is not responsible for entries that go astray.

If an entrant fails to adequately fill out the entry form and/or submit an entry, it will not be accepted into the competition.
